Foreword

GLADLY have we seized the torch thrown to us by the Class of 1932, the originators of The Bentley Yearbook, and earnestly have we endeavored to hold it high in presenting this—THE 1933 BENBOO. Theirs was the task of the pioneer; ours, the less romantic one of those who follow the trail.

Although friends and acquaintances may part, we hope that the ties of good fellowship formed here at school may be renewed during the years to come through the medium of this book, and that old friends, old scenes, old joys may stand out in sharper relief because of it.

To this end the Class of 1933 sets forth this record of its association as a student group with The Bentley School.

Some Highlights in the History of the School

THAT the Class of 1933 may have a permanent record of some of the important events in the remarkable history of their school, this brief summary is here given. It is a record of a growth perhaps unparalleled in educational history, and of an achievement made possible only by earnest effort, unflagging devotion to an ideal, and honest and efficient service.

FEBRUARY 26, 1917: The first Class of The Bentley School is held in Room 410, Huntington Chambers, Boston, with twenty-nine members in attendance.

MARCH 22, 1917: Organization of The Bentley Associates, which has come to be the Alumni Association of the school.

SEPTEMBER, 1917: The school year opens in the new classroom at 125 Tremont Street with 297 evening students.

JANUARY, 1918: First Day Class starts with twenty-three students.

THE WORLD WAR: During the period of the war, many students are called to the colors. Women are temporarily admitted to the evening classes and three of the approximately one hundred and fifty enrolled are numbered among the graduates. After the armistice, some 375 disabled veterans are sent to the school under the sponsorship of the Veterans' Bureau, 122 of them completing the course.

SEPTEMBER, 1919: Additional space is leased at 128 Tremont Street.

JUNE, 1920: A rapidly increasing enrollment makes necessary additional space and the third floor at 921 Boylston Street (our present building) is leased to complement the Tremont Street facilities.

H I S T O R Y

1920-1921: The enrollment for the school year ending in June, 1921, totals 2,042.

SEPTEMBER, 1921: The second floor at 921 Boylston Street is taken over by the school.

AUGUST, 1922: An enrollment of 2,275 forces us to take over the entire building at 921 Boylston Street.

1927-1928: During this school year the increasing demand for space is met by the use of the third floor at 883 Boylston Street as an annex.

SEPTEMBER, 1931: Extensive alterations have been made in the building to make it possible for the students previously housed in the annex to find accommodations on the street floor, formerly leased for mercantile display purposes, and for the first time the building is now used from top to bottom for educational purposes. The school now has a plant which quite ideally meets the needs of its 2,711 students. What a far cry this is from the days of the beginning group of twenty-nine men in 1917! The total area of floor space devoted to our work is approximately 22,000 square feet, or a little more than half an acre.

THE GRADUATES: To and including the Class of 1932, there have gone forth 3,879 graduates, classified as follows:

Day	2,208
Evening	1,671	3,879
Total:
Living	3,826
Deceased	53	3,879

THE PRESENT: The story of the past two years is told in the remaining pages of this book. The Class of 1933 has been making that story, and this edition of THE BENBOO is a record of them and of their doings.

Division One

YES, sir, here are the boys from 302. A great bunch, aren't they? As Mr. Cluff was wont to remark, "The supreme brains of the school."

All joking aside, they are a fine bunch of fellows. It has been the custom of the school to pick the high standing men to form Division One, and this present section has tried nobly to live up to expectations. At first they were inclined to take their honors too seriously and to look upon themselves as "the chosen few," but it didn't take long for those Senior instructors to bring them down to earth.

With Mr. Lindsay they were kept busy. The order of the day was: "In your spare time, fellows, do this little problem." They did it and liked it, too—that's a fact.

When Mr. Kimball came upon them, they were primed for almost anything, and thinking that the worst was over, they took things a bit too easily until they awakened to the fact that here was even more work to do than ever before.

Finally, Mr. Cluff had his chance at them. How he did scare them, but honestly, it wasn't so bad after all. At the present writing they have still got their chins above water and it looks as though they would be able to keep afloat until June 9.

Yes, fine fellows, all of them—but a little playful. When it requires a loud booh or a good bronx cheer, they are right there. On the other hand, when it means four or five hours of good, solid work, they are also "all present or accounted for."

With no hard feelings but with the desire to be of service to them, the writer of this little tribute to Division One has this suggestion to make to them: If you have a few minutes off some day, come down to Division Two and see what a really good division looks like.

Division Two

ON the ground floor of the school there is a large room that in previous years housed washing machines, refrigerators, and electric heaters. At the present time this same room is occupied by talking machines, robots, and blast furnaces—in other words, Section Two.

If one were to list the home towns of the students in this section, it would look like a Cook's Tour from Maine to Alabama. Even though these chaps come from such widely separated places, they have a passion for the same woman, Dame Accountancy. Though in the past they have flirted and still do flirt with other girls—Miss Appreciation of Literature, Justine Law, Betty English, Isabelle Economics, and Fanny Finance—they always return to their true love, Dame Accountancy.

It may be of interest to no one to know a few facts about these students who never have to climb any stairs here at school. Their favorite noontime sport is bawling about the generosity of Monsieur B. Their favorite author is Annie Anonymous. Almost every noon a group of connoisseurs may be seen passing judgment upon the pulchritude of the strolling feminine pedestrians. Many like to stroll through Coconut Grove, while others, more patriotic, take their nightly constitutional along Columbus Avenue. Because so many of the students live at a distance, they are members of the Railway Club, while others are members of the Abbey Club. The most popular occupation of every student is the wooing of that very elusive woman, Dame Accountancy. The student who wins her will think he is mighty fortunate, indeed.

There are several questions that the rest of the students would like to ask Section Two. What quartet always sings the "Cradle Song" during the accounting tests? Is gray hair caused by assiduous study? What causes the density of smoke in the library during the morning? Why does Mr. Hanson use three hundred quiz papers for one hundred students? Why does K-1 always take a siesta on Wednesday afternoon?

Division Three

SECTION THREE — Room 201! There's magic in that number 201. 2 plus 0 plus 1 makes 3 (Do you follow me?)—hence, Section 3. And 20 plus 1 gives 21, the average age of the men in this group. Taken together these three figures make 201—the degree of temperature (Fahrenheit) that this section worked itself up to in trying to keep up with the Kimballs, the Cluffs, and the Lindsays. Again, 20 represents the mean number of failures on any (mean) examination; 2 represents the number of A's credited to this section (conservatively valued for accounting purposes); and .01 represents the number of times that any member of this section has been able to convince the Correcting Department that he was right. Read backwards, Room 201 becomes Room 102—the place where the make-ups are held. But why bring that up?

Consigned to such an environment, it is little wonder that the Third Division had its troubles. It is too much to have to buck Fate and Accounting at the same time, and the boys are to be complimented upon coming through as they did. Although they did not profess such exceptional brilliancy as that modestly assumed by some sections, yet they showed a marked loyalty to their instructors and, in most cases, to their own better consciences. During their waking hours in school they accomplished much, and when asleep they proved to be quite docile and harmless. In matching wits with their instructors, as well as in matching other things, the group was eminently successful. And they had an inventive turn of mind as evidenced by their deftness in the handling of electric apparatus to bring about synchronous movements in the lighting arrangements of the room. Such mechanically minded students should go far in the field of industrial cost accounting.

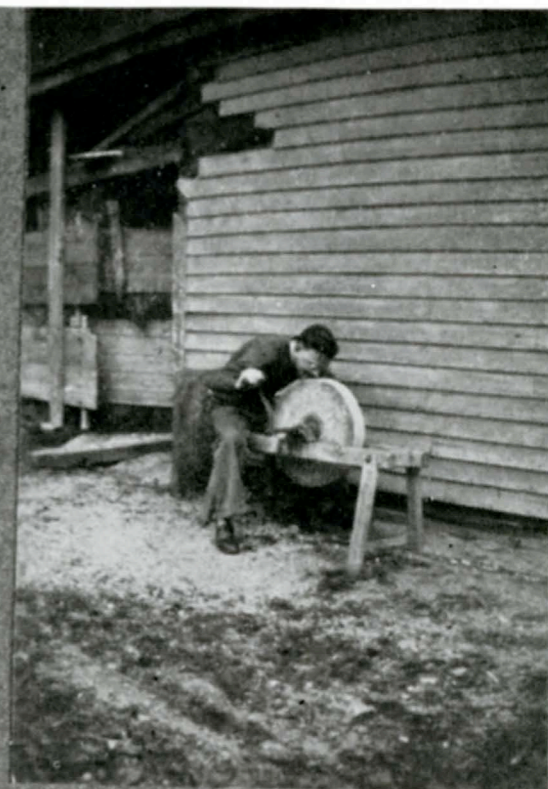

Speaking of Cost, how the boys did wade through this subject! As one of them said: "Whether it's Cost I or Cost II, it's too much." And Income Tax! Say, they tell me that the fellows in this division can be hired by any good firm of public accountants for almost nothing. They've had so much trouble with income tax problems that they don't want to be bothered with any income at all.

Here's to you, Section Three! We've had a lot of fun writing this page about you, but we want to remind you that it has often been said: "The first shall be last, and the last shall be first." Go out and prove it again. Good luck!

SIDE VIEW OF THE BETA TAU ALPHA HOUSE

Beta Tau Alpha

THE year 1922 saw the inception of a new fraternity, Beta Tau Alpha, at The Bentley School, founded "to promote and perpetuate the ideals of upright character, friendship, and good fellowship among the members."

Overcoming many obstacles during the earlier years of its existence, the organization moved steadily forward and was incorporated in 1926. A successful reunion was staged in June, 1927, and in the fall of the same year a house was established at 1071 Beacon Street, Brookline, where its many activities were centered for five years.

The tenth anniversary reunion in celebration of the founding of the fraternity was held June 10 and 11, 1932. A formal dance at Lodge Pole Ranch, the Beverly estate of Mr. and Mrs. Otis E. Dunham; a luncheon at the Hotel Vendome as Mr. Bentley's guests; and a banquet and entertainment in the Princess Ballroom of the Hotel Somerset were highlights of the occasion which brought together many members with the consequent renewing of old acquaintances. From every point of view the reunion was a huge success, and although the attendance was not as large as had been hoped for, because of business conditions, it was, all things considered, very satisfactory.

In September, 1932, a house was established at 287 Kent Street, Brookline. The new home of the fraternity is the former mansion of Ex-Governor Powers of Maine, and is a truly beautiful place. It is excellently equipped and capable of accommodating twice the number of members that the old house would. The fraternity grounds comprise more than an acre of terraces, lawns, and gardens, together with a large garage.

Open-house nights, smokers, house dances, and parties were well attended and enjoyed throughout the year. As in past years, competition was keen between the fraternities and dormitories in the fields of sport including football and basketball. Bridge and cribbage tournaments were also held. B. T. A. participated in all these and took its share of victories.

The fraternity, both as individuals and as a group, is greatly indebted to Henry Y. Porter, Chairman of the Board of Trustees and alumni advisor of the fraternity, for his untiring efforts and self-sacrificing work in its behalf during the past eight years.

The fraternity is proud that it has been privileged to share in many Bentley activities, included among which have been its representation on the Student Council, "Benboo," and the bowling team. It is equally ready to do its share in the future.

Alpha Gamma Pi

Alpha Chapter — Bentley School — Boston

IN 1923 a group of five Jewish students organized the Alpha Gamma Pi Fraternity for the Day classes of The Bentley School. From the group of five the fraternity has grown to an organization consisting of sixty-two members.

The first meetings were held in one of the dormitory rooms, and now the regular meetings are held at the Hotel Brunswick. The meetings are bi-monthly and are for the purpose of discussing cultural, social, and practical everyday problems arising in the field of accounting.

The fraternity holds three dances and a banquet each year. The first national convention of the fraternity was held in Boston on February 21, 22, and 23 of 1932, and was attended by members of the other chapters at Northwestern University, The Wharton School of Finance, and New York University. Fraternity members were present from distant states as well as from those nearby.

The prime requirements for admission to the fraternity are: High scholastic standing, personality, character, and past performance. The membership continues if the requirements are met, and after graduation the membership is for life.

The Brotherhood of Kappa Pi Alpha

ONE of the greatest gifts that can be bestowed upon a man is the ability to make and hold friends. Most of us have that ability to a moderate degree and under the proper conditions it can be developed into an asset that no one can tear from us.

What could be a better environment for such development than an organization that has as its very foundation and basic principle “—the undying brotherhood of all its members”?

Kappa Pi Alpha is just such an organization and in its eleven short years of life it has grown from the five original founders to a society of over three hundred and fifty loyal “Brothers.” It has taken these students and instilled in them the value of friendship—welded them into a solid phalanx that will go down the years confident that, come what may in life, there still exists among them that unbreakable bond!

The Fraternity House is conveniently located in beautiful suburban Brookline and has the advantage of the Brookline Athletic Field, Gymnasium, and Swimming Pool, which are but a short distance away. The nearness of these places means much to those who are athletically inclined and full use is made of the privileges extended to the fraternity.

There are many and varied social functions offered to the members of this fraternity throughout the year and they make for a pleasant let-up in the course of study, giving a renewed vigor with which to attack the problems of education and school work. House parties are held two or three times a year and the Annual Inter-Fraternity Formal brings together the members of Kappa Pi Alpha and Beta Tau Alpha. The closing festival of the year is the Annual Spring Formal, which is a gala affair that lingers long in the hearts of the graduating members.

The strict requirements for membership in this organization have made a name for the fraternity on the school records. Character, personality, and a high scholastic standing are the things that go to make up the society and it is only by maintaining these standards that the enviable reputation Kappa Pi Alpha has carved for itself stands the test of the years.

Membership in Kappa Pi Alpha does much for a student. It brings him in close contact with men of ability and high scholastic standing. It introduces him to the social affairs of the school life, which are perhaps as much a part of his education as the principles gleaned in the classroom. It enables him to grow by being with those who are growing with him and who in their growing have had experiences which, when passed on to him, broaden his mind.

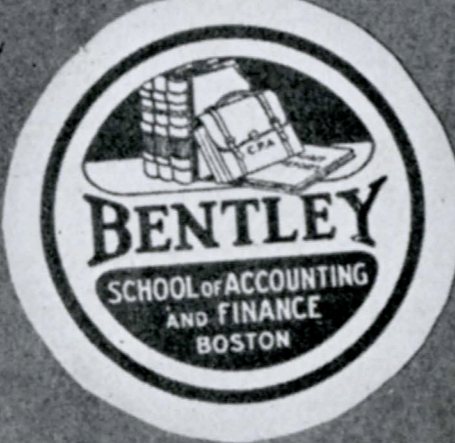

These advantages mean much to a student both during the time he is in school and in later life. It is with a justifiable pride that Kappians meet and with the fraternal handshake extend the greetings of the day to their “Brothers”!

The Student Council

THE Council, conducting the student activities for its fifth year, has successfully carried on its affairs to date—financially as well as otherwise. Three dances have been held, two in the Louis XIV Ballroom of the Hotel Somerset and one at Longwood Towers. The fellows have enjoyed these dances and are looking forward to the last Council dance of the year to be held at the Longwood Cricket Club.

Industrial inspection trips have been sponsored, one having already been made to the plant of the Hood Milk Company, and others are planned to include the factories of the Ford Motor Company and the Hood Rubber Company.

The Bowling Tournament has been brought to a close with one outstanding bowler taking the laurels but all enjoying the final banquet held in their honor. The gala event of the year, the annual Field Day, is yet to come. Plans are in progress to make this year's program better than ever before and, the weather man permitting, a glorious time is in prospect.

WINNERS OF THE BOWLING LEAGUE—DAY II—SECTION I—GADBOIS, MOTT, PORCARI, MESSIER, PULA

Bowling

BEGINNING in November and continuing well into February, the third annual Bowling Tournament was hotly contested from start to finish, the result being in doubt until the final strings were rolled. Each Tuesday afternoon, teams representing the seven Class divisions and the Faculty were to be found at the Fenway Alleys, engaged in stiff competition. For the second successive year, a team from Division One of the Senior Class carried off first honors with the Faculty entry again pressing them hard all the way. Pula, of the winning group, walked away with all of the individual honors with some fine bowling.

At the end of the season the members of the various aggregations enjoyed a banquet at Cocoanut Grove. Here the keen competitive instinct of the past weeks gave way to general good fellowship as all paid tribute to the prowess of the winners. Mr. Telex J. Richard handled all of the details of the tournament and of the banquet most efficiently and much of the credit for a very successful season is due him.

Basket Ball

K. P. A. Wins Tournament

THE basket ball games played by teams representing the various fraternities and dormitories resulted in a victory for the Kappa Pi Alpha Fraternity, and to them was awarded for the second consecutive year the Student Council cup.

The play-offs became a real battle between the final victors and Beta Tau Alpha when the first-year representatives were eliminated early in the tournament by large scores. K. P. A. took the first game by an 18 to 11 score, but B. T. A. came back to win the next one with comparative ease, 38 to 18. Following the spring recess, the deciding game was played between these two fraternities, and what a game it turned out to be. At the end of the regulation time, the teams were tied at 26 all. In the over-time period, K. P. A. clinched the title by dropping in two field goals while B. T. A. was netting one, winning 30 to 28.

The teams that reached the finals took the floor as follows:

LECTURES

Special Evening Lectures

To supplement the regular work of the classroom and to put the student more closely in touch with the practical problems of his profession, a series of special auditing lectures was held this year.

The lecturers were men recognized as leading authorities in the public accounting field, and their wide experience enabled them to discuss their subjects intimately and helpfully. Many Seniors availed themselves of this unusual opportunity, and it is hoped that a similar series will be arranged another year.

The School Get-Together

Do you remember, fellows, that Get-Together of the First Year Classes which we attended at the Boston City Club on December 15, 1931? It was the first time that we had all been together as Freshmen and we made a great showing. It was also the first time that we had had the chance of meeting the various members of the teaching staff. A splendid program was presented for our entertainment and instruction, and the "smokes" and the "eats" added no little to our enjoyment.

That we may have a permanent record of that Get-Together and a lasting reminder of the many helpful points brought out by the speakers, we are reproducing here the program of that occasion.

*On the books of Life we early place
Our opening entry, recording there
The debt we owe to God, the race,
To Truth and Light and friendly care.*

*Short years pass by; we borrow more
From out the storehouse of the past;
We make the world our creditor,
And come from youth to man at last.*

*Our structure's built, we may be sure,
By friends we know and those unknown;
'Tis their investment in our venture
Returns the gain—not ours alone.*

*And yet we seldom think to live
As though we were a corporation,
With cumulative dividends to give
As tokens of appreciation.*

*Instead, like sole proprietors, we dare
To flout our obligations when
The profits all we draw, nor care
How little back we plow again.*

*More years have sped; at length we find
That our account is overdrawn;
In selfishness our checks we've signed,
And now we learn our credit's gone.*

*The world a bankrupt soon would be,
If all pursued this selfsame way.
The laws of God and man decree:
There is a reckoning day.*

Instructions for Making Out the Income Tax Return This Year

(WITH VARIATIONS FROM AND APOLOGIES TO THE BOSTON GLOBE)

I—INCOME FROM BUSINESS OR PROFESSION

IF you owned a business in 1932 have you placed the responsibility and, if so, do you intend to sue? If you practiced a profession give list of persons from whom you borrowed money.

FARMERS' INCOME SCHEDULE—If you know of any farmer who had an income during the past year do not write the government; phone or wire at once.

KIND OF BUSINESS—Describe kind of business at top of Page 1 as “delicatessen,” “soup house,” “aspirin tablet manufacturer,” etc. If in fur, automobile, diamond, orchid, or theater business, enter same under head of Losses by Storm and state location of free milk station at which you are now hanging out. If you are a stock broker, do not mention it; this is no longer a business.

II—DEDUCTIONS

DEPRECIATION—Enter on pages 12 to 16 estimate of your depreciation and state whether administration radio talks made it worse. Have you been depreciating long, and are you doing anything for it?

LOSSES—Losses incurred in trade, business, or profession should be presented this year in book form, but limited to two volumes, neatly bound. And never mind the old one about what you lost in South American bonds, Radio common, or the first preferred railroad stock your uncle left you as depression proof.

INCOME FROM PARTNERSHIPS—Anybody who had any income from a partnership last year is requested to call the White House immediately. It will make a great argument for the new administration.

INCOME FROM RENTS—(This must have been stuck in by mistake; the Government can't really be that crazy).

PROFITS FROM SALE OF REAL ESTATE, BONDS, ETC.—That's a good one, only we heard it in a different way.

DIVIDENDS—State whether you heard them pass and give an approximate idea of which way they went.

OTHER INCOME—No, we know it's a hoax.

In Closing

IN these troublesome times, a word of inspiration and good cheer goes a long way to smooth out the road. The BENBOO offers this little poem with just such a thought in mind, and hopes that it will brighten your corner as it has ours. We are sorry that we cannot give you the author's name. We picked it up just as it appears here—nameless—and with apologies to the author we so present it.

*When things go wrong, as they sometimes will,
When the road you're trudging seems all up-hill,
When funds are low and the debts are high,
And you want to smile but you have to sigh,
When care is pressing you down a bit,
Rest if you must, but don't you QUIT.
Life is queer with its twists and turns,
As every one of us sometimes learns.
And many a failure turns about
When he might have won had he stuck it out.
Don't give up though the pace is slow,
You may succeed with another blow.
Often the goal is nearer than
It seems to a faint and faltering man.
Often the struggler has given up
When he might have captured the victor's cup.
And he learned too late, when the night slipped down,
How close he was to the golden crown.
Success is failure turned inside out,
The silver tint of the clouds of doubt.
And you never can tell how close you are,
It may be near when it seems afar.
So stick it out when you're hardest hit,
It's when things seem worst that you mustn't QUIT.*

(AUTHOR UNKNOWN).

Thanks

THE editor of THE BENBOO wishes to express his appreciation to those who have assisted him in the making of this book. He is especially indebted

To his fellow members on the Board who have shared with him the trials and tribulations—and the fun—of this undertaking.

To Mr. Harrison Perry of the Oxford-Print for helpful suggestions and kindly co-operation.
